

Infinite Wisdom Consulting Grows Its Intuitive Consulting Services in Menifee, CA

June 18, 2026

MENIFEE, CA - June 18, 2026 -

Infinite Wisdom Consulting has grown its intuitive consulting services to support career clarity and life transitions in Menifee, CA and nearby communities. The expanded services are intended for individuals who want a more reflective, guided way to navigate change without relying solely on traditional career counseling or coaching models.

This expansion reinforces the firm's role as a local resource for individuals reassessing their direction or preparing for change. Infinite Wisdom Consulting's intuitive consulting services support people seeking guidance that connects inner alignment with the practical realities of work, family, and community life. The practice's approach is designed to make intuitive consulting in Menifee, CA more accessible, grounded, and action-oriented for clients who may be weighing important, time-sensitive choices.

The practice offers intuitive guidance and structured planning for individuals seeking clarity in major decisions, such as career changes, relocation, or questions of purpose. The updated approach connects internal insight with actionable next steps, helping clients find both direction and a practical plan they can begin implementing after each session. The focus is on applying intuitive perspectives to real-life choices about time, energy, and commitments. This expansion reflects the firm's commitment to offering intuitive consulting in Menifee, CA as a practical support option for life and career transitions, whether clients are in early exploration or active decision-making.

Founder Tina M. Foran offers intuitive insight and pragmatic guidance across work, caregiving, personal priorities, and major life decisions. Her tailored approach helps clients navigate career changes and uncertain transitions by clarifying goals, identifying obstacles, and uncovering new options that may not have been considered. This model is designed for those who feel overwhelmed by choice or misalignment and focuses on both inner wisdom and tangible action that can be integrated into daily life.

The firm assists clients considering new roles, returning to education, changing industries, or restructuring their work approach. Infinite Wisdom Consulting combines intuitive consulting with practical planning, offering flexible support that evolves over time rather than relying on a single session. The process examines how changes may impact daily routines, relationships, and long-term goals, encouraging clients to be honest about their capacities, responsibilities, and aspirations so they can make decisions that feel sustainable.

Sessions are personalized and confidential, giving clients space to explore concerns with guidance that balances intuitive and practical considerations. Clients are guided through clarifying their goals, identifying misalignments, and defining realistic changes that match their current season of life. Rather than using a one-size-fits-all approach, Infinite Wisdom Consulting adapts each session to the individual, allowing the pace and focus to shift as circumstances evolve.

In addition to career and life-direction support, the practice assists clients who sense an upcoming transition but have not yet defined it. Early sessions may focus on values, energy, relationships, and subtle signs of needed change, such as ongoing dissatisfaction or restlessness. Addressing these signals early can support more proactive adjustments rather than reactive decisions made under pressure. The firm's approach emphasizes local, relationship-centered guidance intended to support self-trust and stability during periods of change, while encouraging clients to remain connected to their existing support systems.

Infinite Wisdom Consulting provides personal insight and decision-making support but does not offer clinical, financial, or legal advice. Clients are encouraged to consult licensed professionals for clinical, financial, or legal matters as needed. The consulting process complements other support by helping clients reconnect with their direction and create practical steps that align with professional guidance they may already be receiving.

Infinite Wisdom Consulting, located at 27798 Moonridge Dr., Menifee, CA 92585, serves clients by appointment. To learn more or schedule a consultation with Tina M. Foran, call (909) 215-5591 or email insight2change@yahoo.com.
